

GERMANY

These lists include services on the North Sea and Baltic coasts of Germany, and adjacent rivers. Many other fleets of excursion vessels run on the middle and upper Rhine, Mosel, Main, Neckar, upper Elbe, in Berlin, on the Alpine lakes and other waterways, but these are beyond the scope of this guide. The North Sea coast is surrounded by shallow water and sandbanks; for most of its length, the coastline is an embankment protecting flat farm land. With one or two exceptions, all the holiday resorts are on the islands, most of which are too small to accept visitors' cars. Helgoland has striking red cliffs and as an added attraction, duty-free goods can still be bought there (but not on ships sailing to the island); in summer, most ships anchor off the island and passengers are landed in launches. Germany's Baltic coast has varied and pleasant scenery, with chalk cliffs on the island of Rügen.

A key to this list is on page 19.

Within each section, operators are listed in alphabetic order. For each operator, the following information is given:

Title - This is the name by which the firm is usually identified and is not necessarily the full legal name or the registered owner of a vessel. A glossary of German words used in company names is below.

Name of vessel - If the vessel's name has changed since the 2016 'Trip Out' guides, the previous name is given; other former names are not listed.

Nationality of vessel - All vessels listed are of German registry unless stated otherwise. The following codes are used:

CY - Cyprus,

MT - Malta,

NL - Netherlands.

No nationality is given for vessels not yet named.

Particulars of vessel - Year of completion, "gt" or gross tonnage, overall length in metres, and maximum passenger capacity.

Type of vessel - the following codes are used:

C - car ferry,

m - catamaran or trimaran,

> - high speed craft,

● - steam-engined,

+● - steam and diesel engines,

▲ - auxiliary sailing vessel.

Services - Dates are inclusive: thus, "May - Aug" means from the beginning of May to the end of August.

Unless stated otherwise, cruises and excursions run in summer only, but charter trips are available all year.
